

Abstract of the Disclosure

A kit and method for playing a golf and soccer-like game includes a kit having at least one play ball and a target ball. The kit includes a club having a shaft with a club head rotatably coupled to the shaft. The club head includes a symmetrical club face portion that 5 usable by right or left handed players and may be rotated to adjust the pitch angle of the club face. The shaft of the club is telescopically adjustable. The target ball may be kicked to begin the game. The play ball is smaller than the target ball and may be struck repeatedly with the club until it strikes the target ball. Multiple players using different play balls may take turns striking their ball toward the target ball. Points are awarded for the fewest strokes or for 10 location on the target ball that is hit.